new pilots

Thank you again for your continued prayers and support for our family! We are so excited to share with you some of the things that God has been doing through our ministry at Moody Aviation.

Taylor has been working with three students, this semester, as they pursue their Private Pilot's License. This is their first step in the world of flying and can be very challenging. Everything is new and it takes a great amount of hard work and determination to reach the end and become a certified pilot. Two of Taylor's students have finished their training for the semester and passed their tests. It's so exciting to have had a part in their training and see where God will lead them next.

Unfortunately, one of Taylor's students was not able to complete his training this semester due to an issue with his FAA medical. Please pray for him (Luke) and his family as they seek God's guidance for their lives. He is a godly man and we look forward to seeing how God will use this for His glory.

training the next generation of missionary aviators

We are missionaries with Proclaim Aviation Ministries, currently living in Spokane, WA where Taylor is a flight instructor at Moody Bible Institute's Missionary Aviation School. We are blessed to be a part of training future missionary pilots.

These aviators will eventually transition to overseas missionary organizations, where they will daily traverse some of the world's most forbidding terrain to bring bible translators, pastors, medical aid, supplies, and sustenance—all with the love of Christ—to the ends of the earth.

MENTORING. Taylor has also had the great honor of mentoring a young man in the Moody Aviation program. Brett is currently finishing up his aircraft maintenance certification and will then begin flying next summer. Would you please pray for him as he continues pursuing God's direction in his life? I, Taylor, remember being in his shoes and thinking that the road ahead seemed completely impossible, and yet God provided and sustained me through it. I am confident that God will do the same for him.

CELEBRATING. This year, we were able to spend Thanksgiving with some of our very close friends from Moody Aviation. It is such a privilege to work alongside people who are not only coworkers, but close friends. This get-together has been a 3-year tradition and we all thoroughly enjoyed being able to spend the day together.

We are also blessed to be able to go to Florida to visit Taylor's family over Christmas. For the past couple years, Taylor's family has been coming to Spokane for the holidays, so it will be good to go see them for a change (and enjoy the warm weather, as well!). It will definitely be an adventure traveling with Corban all the way across the country. We appreciate your prayers!

IT'S TRADITION.

A fun Moody Aviation tradition is celebrated when each new student completes their very first Solo flight, and the instructor cuts off the tail of their shirt. In the early days of aviation, flight instructors often had to sit directly behind their students. They would have no way to communicate with the student, other than to tug on their shirts. When a student would complete their first solo it was tradition to cut off their shirt tails, symbolizing their ability to now fly without their instructor's guidance. At Moody Aviation we keep that tradition alive and celebrate each and every first solo flight accomplished by our students! The instructor labels and signs the shirt, and the student can then keep it and frame it. We still have Taylor's shirt framed and hanging up in our apartment. It's a wonderful tradition!

Thank you again for all of your love and support! We could not be here without your generosity and kindness towards us. We are blessed beyond measure to have each of you standing with us as seek to equip young people for service to our King!
