THE NAGELIS

Dear Family and Friends!

What a bizarre time we are living through right now. It is amazing to see so many aspects of our everyday lives shutdown. Things that for so long we thought were essential are now closed and we are finding that we can survive without them. During these challenging times, I pray that each of you finds comfort and peace in the arms of Jesus, who has ALWAYS been our ONLY hope. I pray that in these trying times we will rediscover what are the truly essential things in our lives!

I (Taylor) worked from home for several weeks during March and April. Even though flight schools were deemed "essential" this whole time, Moody Aviation chose to shutdown operations until the beginning of May, in order to figure out how to maintain a safe and clean environment in both the building and the airplanes. I am grateful to work at a place that puts a high value on safety, even when it means making very challenging decisions. As a flight instructor, my normal job of teaching others how to fly was put on hold for a while and instead I worked on helping develop new curriculum for future classes. While this was certainly not what I expected to be doing, I am grateful I was able to continue working and to provide a service that will benefit future Moody Aviation students. I am thrilled to report that I am now back at work flying with my students, although I am finding that it can be quite challenging to wear a mask when flying!

We join with you in praying for God to bring healing to so many who are dealing with this terrible virus. We would also ask that you pray for the senior class at Moody Aviation that I am currently working with. They have been through so much throughout their time at Moody and are now faced with a great deal of uncertainty in finishing up their training. Please pray that God will give them peace and provide for their needs over the coming months.

training the next generation of missionary aviators

We are missionaries with Proclaim Aviation Ministries, currently living in Spokane, WA where Taylor is a flight instructor at Moody Bible Institute's Missionary Aviation School. We are blessed to be a part of training future missionary pilots.

These aviators will eventually transition to overseas missionary organizations, where they will daily traverse some of the world's most forbidding terrain to bring bible translators, pastors, medical aid, supplies, and sustenance—all with the love of Christ—to the ends of the earth.

FAMILY. While the stay at home orders have caused a great deal of disruption to my work at Moody, I got to spend some quality time with my wonderful family. Corban is definitely in the toddler stage now and getting into everything. He pulls every book off of the shelves in our room and in his room every day! He has a ton of energy and it has been an adventure finding ways to keep him occupied in our little apartment. We are grateful that the weather is improving and we are able to spend more time outside with him.

MINISTERING. Moriah continues to work part-time from home and we are blessed that her teaching job has continued through this time. Moriah has also been called upon to minister to the ladies at Moody Aviation and is doing a fantastic job encouraging them. She has also spent time baking cookies and delivering them to those around us as an encouragement. She is such a blessing!

BIG DECISIONS. We would like to ask for your prayers for us as we make some big decisions concerning our future. Our commitment to Moody Aviation is over this summer and we have felt God leading us towards a career at the airlines. While this is not the mission field we had originally envisioned we have felt a strong calling by God to move in that direction. As such, we had made plans to move back to the St. Louis area (where Moriah is from) this summer and pursue an airline job. Unfortunately, the coronavirus has greatly affected the airline industry and we now find ourselves dealing with a lot of uncertainty. We have committed to stay at Moody through the end of July to help my students who have fallen behind complete their training, but after that we just don't know what will happen. Please pray for us as we seek to make decisions that honor our Heavenly Father!

Finally, we just want to say thank you for your constant prayers and generous support. We could not be here without you standing behind us! May God bless you greatly, even in the midst of this storm!
