Dear Friends and Family,

Our prayer is that you and your families are doing well. Please let us know if there is any way we can uplift you in prayer.

My wife and I are deeply grateful to everyone who was able to partner with us during the last two months. We are beyond words to fully express our gratitude. Praise the Lord, we were able to go down to the San Diego area to visit family and friends who wanted to hear more about the ministry God has entrusted us with.

We wanted to share with you one of the many ways in which we have been able to see the powerful hand of God in our lives. We had planned to spend three weeks in San Diego, where we would devote most of our time to partnering with friends and family. However, my wife and I came down with COVID for almost half of our trip. Normally, our sinful human response is to get angry or mad because things are not going according to our plan. But instead of just feeling sorry for ourselves and getting mad at the situation, we saw it as a means in which God would be magnified. What I mean by this is that we traveled with the intent of making partnerships and raising our monthly support, and by having to spend at least half of our time there in quarantine, it meant that God would have to do a miracle for us to be fully supported. A common theme in our lives has been to keep on trusting the Lord, to keep setting our eyes on God, who will provide for all our needs. So, it seemed impossible for us to be able to raise our support because we had less time available, and we were setting our eyes on churches and people instead of God. But there are no impossible things for God. We have a mountain of evidence behind us that proves God's faithfulness over and over.

Prayer Requests

- For Leslie and the baby
- Health
- Wisdom for schoolwork
- Financial provision for our monthly goal
- For our ministry with the students at Moody
- For God's guidance for where we will serve on the mission field

Leslie had the opportunity to attend some in-person classes while we were in California. She was able to meet her professors in person, which was very different from just meeting them online. She was able to finish the first module with very good grades. As many of you may know, we are expecting our first baby boy, for which we are beyond excited to meet! He is growing and developing well, a little bit too well as he is growing faster than anticipated. Please pray for Leslie and the baby as the pregnancy continues to progress. Furthermore, in our last visit with the OB, she was concerned about Leslie's ankles which were swelling, so Leslie will have some blood work done to rule out some potential pregnancy problems. Please pray also for Leslie as she goes through school, that our Lord may give her strength and wisdom to be able to finish all of her schoolwork.

After our time in California, we came back to Spokane, where Fernando had his first week at Moody Aviation as an AMT Lab Assistant. He was very excited to be able to go back to Moody but now as part of the faculty. The first week was mostly spent in the office doing training and getting standardized to fulfill his duties and responsibilities. The second week, he was able to work hand in hand with the students. They were a bit timid to ask him questions, but they slowly opened a bit and felt confident to go and ask him questions too. Please pray for him so that he will be able to pour into the students not only in mechanical knowledge but also spiritually.

We are deeply grateful to each and every one of you who decided to partner with us in prayer and/or financially. We would not be able to minister without God placing people like you in our paths. So far, we are at 70% of our total monthly support. If you receive this email and God places in your heart to support our ministry in prayer and financially, please get in contact with us because we would love to share more about our ministries and partner with you.

Once again, thank you so much for all your support and prayers and for partnering with us! A new phase of the adventure is about to begin!

May the Lord bless you greatly,

Fernando & Leslie Herrera
