Aviation. How we sustain ministry at the ends of the earth.

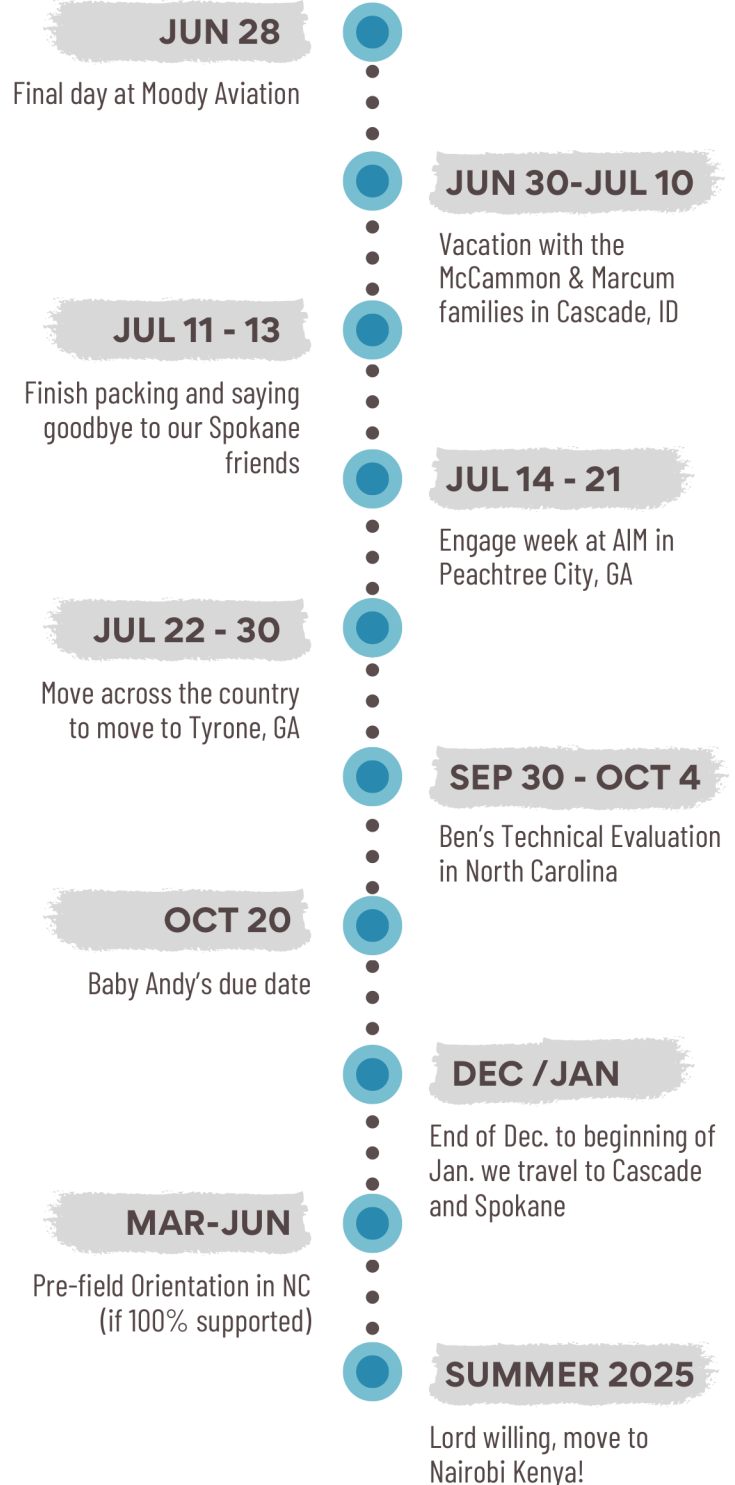

HELLO, MINISTRY TEAM!

The inexorable march of time has brought us to the end of our service at Moody Aviation! After almost 10 years in Spokane, we have grown in our technical knowledge and spiritual maturity, especially the last 3 years as we have served in our roles as mechanic and flight instructor. Our sending church, Red Bench Bible Church, has and continues to play a massive part in our lives. They have equipped us well for the next phase of life.

NEXT STEPS.

As our previous letter stated, we are transitioning from Moody Aviation to Africa Inland Mission (AIM). Below is our projected timeline for the coming year that we're holding with open hands:

Once in Georgia, we will be living in Amber's parents' basement for 8-10 months while we do support raising, further training with AIM, (whose HQ is 10 minutes from her parents' house!) and have our baby boy!

FINANCIAL PARTNERS.

For those who are currently financially supporting us through Proclaim, thank you so much for your generous and faithful giving! We would like to give a brief explanation of what you can expect to change as far as your giving goes.

You may be wondering, "Do I need to switch my giving over to AIM?" The answer is, not yet!

After speaking with our AIM representative and our director at Proclaim Aviation, our financial support raising will work as follows:

- After Engage Week in July, AIM will tell us how much money we will need to raise for our monthly support and outgoing fees.
- All new financial supporters will be directed to give/donate through Proclaim Aviation Ministries. If you are already supporting us through Proclaim, no action from you is required.
- Once we have completed all prerequisites for full-time service with AIM, then we will ask that you switch your donations over to AIM. Our anticipated timeframe for this switch is January 2025.

This plan allows us to complete our requirements with AIM while remaining in full-time service with Proclaim Aviation Ministries. We are incredibly thankful for Proclaim Aviation and their unique model of ministry that equips prospective missionaries with real world experience while also helping them build their network of ministry partners.

THANK YOU!

We are so thankful for the parts all of you play in our ministry. Many of you have lifted us up through prayer, financial giving, and encouragement. Others have played key roles in our spiritual, theological, and technical training. Whatever part(s) you have played, we stand where we are today because of you, the body of Christ!
